COUNTY REACHES OUT TO DISPLACED FOSTER FAMILIES

Affected Families Who Share Their Homes With Foster Children Are Eligible for Assistance

The County of San Diego Health and Human Services Agency is offering special assistance to foster families and relatives caring for children through the County's foster care program, who have lost their homes or been otherwise affected by the local wildfires. A program is in place to assist them with shelter, clothing, furniture, food and more.

“The County has resources available to assist families who have opened their hearts and homes to foster children, especially during this catastrophe,” said Board of Supervisors Chairman Greg Cox. “I encourage any displaced foster families to contact (877) 792-KIDS.”
