

LEVEL OF URGENCY OF CAHAN SAN DIEGO ALERTS

LOW-LEVEL ALERT: An alert sent according to an individual's low-level alerting profile, containing important, but not urgent, information about disease prevention, assessment or control measures. Response by alert recipients is often not required.

MEDIUM-LEVEL ALERT: An alert sent according to an individual's medium-level alerting profile, containing important, but not urgent, information regarding a moderate public health threat. Response by alert recipients is usually required.

HIGH-LEVEL ALERT: An alert sent according to an individual's high-level alerting profile, containing important and urgent information regarding a serious public health threat. Response by alert recipients is almost always required.