Medical Updates Regarding the Fires—October 25, 2007, 11:15 a.m.

- Skilled Nursing Facilities (SNF) in the Poway and Rancho Bernardo areas and Pomerado Hospital are preparing to receive patients again.
- 18 persons evacuated to Orange County shelters are scheduled to be transferred to San Diego County SNFs.
- The need for San Diego County Medical Reserve Corps (MRC) volunteers to serve at various county shelters is decreasing. The number of MRC volunteers willing to provide assistance far exceeds the current demand. A big thank you to all MRC volunteers who offered to help. The information you provided regarding your specialties/skill sets will be kept for future reference.

Thank you for your continued participation.
